In Northern Spain, the cities of the Celtic north—Bilbao, San Sebastian, and Pamplona—draw on the region’s rich history, its influence from the Romans, the Moors, the Carthaginians, and the Normans. Pamplona, the ancient capital of the kingdom of Navarre, is known for its running of the bulls and its cathedral, while San Sebastian, a easy port of entry to Northern Spain, is famous for its beaches, restaurants, and its waterfront promenade. Bilbao, the second largest city in Spain with the world’s most beautiful shopping center, is a favorite destination of travelers from all over the world.
