Fill the pages of your newest chapter with tales of the cultural riches of Ostuni. Explore labyrinthine passageways in the Middle Ages. Take in sweeping panoramic vistas from the city walls. Blanket its hilltop perch. In Old Town, take in the Appian Way. View the Roman amphitheater and the ancient Roman Column marks the end of the Appian Way. The Roman amphitheater was once used for gladiator battles and spectacles. The Appian Way was once a busy road for travelers, but today it is a quiet walkway. It was named after the ancient Roman general Marcus Junius Brutus, who defeated Julius Caesar in 49 BC.
