CAROLINA, 1959

11:30 a.m.

Old Students Club Luncheon

The Carolina Club, George Watts Hill Alumni Center

James Lee Love (class of 1884) donated an endowment to the General Alumni Association to fund an annual gathering of the "Old Students Club" for all who have reached or passed the 50th anniversary of their graduation year. Dr. William "Bill" Leuchtenburg, William Rand Kenan Jr. Professor Emeritus of history and a renowned scholar of American political history, will be our featured speaker. He is the author of more than a dozen books and the recipient of numerous honors, including the Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. Award for historical writing of enduring public significance. Leuchtenburg has recently served as a consultant for the major renovation of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Presidential Library and Museum at Hyde Park. He has worked with documentary filmmaker Ken Burns on his films for more than 30 years, including "The Roosevelts," in which he appears several times on camera. He wrote the presidential election analysis for NBC on election nights and covered presidential inaugurations for three other networks. For Bill Clinton's first inaugural address in 1993, he was at the CBS anchor desk with Dan Rather and Charles Kuralt. Leuchtenburg has most recently published "The American President: From Teddy Roosevelt to Bill Clinton." Casual attire. Each graduate from 1969 and earlier, along with one guest, are welcome to attend at no cost. Space is limited, registration required.

- 1:30 – 2:30 p.m.      Reunion Tours – Guided Walking or Bus Tours of Campus
Both tours depart from the George Watts Hill Alumni Center
- The walking tour is a pleasant way to revisit the older sections of main campus, although there are plenty of new sites to see along the way. The bus tour is the best way to see the new and familiar of main campus while also learning about the ever-expanding southern edges of UNC. All tours are complimentary. Tickets for bus tours will be given on a first-come, first-served basis as limited seats are available.
- 1:30 – 2:30 p.m.      FEATURED ENRICHMENT SESSION
-  Historical Reflections: America’s First Public University
Blue Zone (Concourse Level), Kenan Stadium
 See full description on page 9.
- 1:30 – 5:30 p.m.      GAA Vintage Slideshow narrated by Andy Griffith ‘49 and by Charles Kuralt ‘55 (Continuous Showings)
The Carolina Club, George Watts Hill Alumni Center
- Andy Griffith ‘49 narrated an award-winning slideshow used by the GAA during the 1970s. Charles Kuralt ‘55 narrated another award-winning slideshow used by the GAA during the 1980s. Both shows feature beautiful and historic photographs and entertaining narrations that make them fun to view even decades later. Drop in and out at any time throughout the day to view as much of these vintage shows as you wish.
- 3 – 4 p.m.      Guided Campus Bus Tour
 See 1:30 p.m. tour description.
- 3–5:30 p.m.      Bell Tower Open
 Climb the Bell Tower and take in the views from this stunning campus landmark.
- 4:15 – 5:15 p.m.      Guided Campus Bus Tour
 See 1:30 p.m. tour description.
- 5:30 p.m.      Class of ‘69 Reunion Photograph
George Watts Hill Alumni Center
- 6 – 7:30 p.m.      Reunion Check-In Reopens
Blue Zone (Concourse Level), Kenan Stadium (site of Friday on the Hill)
- 6–8 p.m.      Friday on the Hill
Blue Zone (Concourse Level), Kenan Stadium
- This festive, casual social will take place at The Blue Zone. All Spring Reunions Weekend participants and alumni are invited to join for spectacular stadium views and good conversation. Price $40; GAA member price $25. Casual attire.

CAROLINA, 1969

SUNDAY, MAY 12

8–9:30 a.m.

Class of '69 Commencement Processional

Kenan Football Center, fifth floor

Don't miss this opportunity to participate in a wonderful Carolina tradition in which you join the processional into Kenan Stadium for the 2019 Commencement. This event is consistently rated by past 50th reunion participants as a favorite event of the weekend. Parking instructions and all necessary details will be provided in reunion packets for those who RSVP. Spouses and guests are welcome to join the fun for coffee and socializing in our gathering spot and will have a perfect vantage point to watch the procession. Following the processional, which should end before 9:30 a.m., you may depart or enjoy the rest of the Commencement program.

9 a.m.

Commencement

Kenan Stadium

Jonathan T.M. Reckford '84, Habitat for Humanity CEO, will deliver the Commencement address. In 2003, Reckford had been a successful business executive at some of the nation's major corporations when he felt a calling to serve others in a deeper way. He left the corporate world behind to become a pastor and now leads the world's foremost global nonprofit housing organization.

ENRICHMENT SESSIONS

FRIDAY, MAY 10

9 – 10 a.m.

Not Your Grandmother's Library: UNC Libraries in the Digital Age

*Blue Zone (Concourse Level),
Kenan Stadium*

Featuring Elaine Westbrooks, vice provost of University Libraries and University librarian. Although our libraries are fully committed to preserving knowledge and the rich and complex history of the state, we are in the midst of a transformation. University Libraries is increasingly poised to provide new kinds of services (we will always have books) so that students, faculty and staff have inspirational spaces that are quiet, communal but also energizing and engaging with new kinds of technologies. Hear about how UNC Libraries provides virtual reality tools, Makerspaces for design and prototyping and data visualization classes, while also providing collections of books, digital health devices and data sets for our campus community.

10:10 – 11:10 a.m.

Morphing Skin Into Stem Cells That Kill Cancer

*Blue Zone (Concourse Level),
Kenan Stadium*

Featuring Dr. Shawn Hingtgen, UNC Lineberger Comprehensive Cancer Center member and assistant professor at the UNC Eshelman School of Pharmacy. Join Dr. Hingtgen, a translational scientist who specializes in gene and cell therapy, as he discusses the exciting breakthrough he and his team are working on at UNC: morphing your skin into stem cells that seek out and kill cancer. With a little bit of skin and a little bit of time, this will become a remarkable therapy. Using a strong interdisciplinary team of basic scientists and clinicians, they are testing this novel treatment against many of the most aggressive types of cancer. The ultimate goal is to translate this therapy into the clinical setting, where they can provide clinicians with a powerful new therapy capable of fighting these diseases and bringing hope to patients.

1:30 – 2:30 p.m.

Historical Reflections: America's First Public University

*Blue Zone (Concourse Level),
Kenan Stadium*

Featuring James Leloudis '77 ('89 PhD), associate professor of history, Peter T. Grauer associate dean for Honors Carolina and director of the James M. Johnston Center for Undergraduate Excellence. Carolina is America's first public University. Make note of where the emphasis falls. For more than two centuries, that word 'public' has been the University's guide star. But its meaning has never been static. The word has been defined and redefined, sometimes radically, as successive generations have rethought the relationship between the university and the larger society that gives it life. In this session, Jim takes a historical look at UNC and its role as American's first public university.

SATURDAY, MAY 11

9 – 10 a.m.

Saturday Morning in Chapel Hill: Carolina Across the Generations

*Pleasants Family Assembly Room,
Wilson Library*

Featuring Dick Baddour '66, retired after 45 years of service as a University administrator in student affairs, undergraduate admissions, the School of Law and athletics.

This session has been a favorite one for reunion participants going back over a decade. What's it like to be a student today compared to undergraduates in the 1960s? Dick Baddour leads a lively discussion on this topic. He will pose questions to a panel of four current students and four graduates from the class of 1969. Audience participation is encouraged.

10 – 11:10 a.m.

The History of Argyle and Carolina Style

*Pleasants Family Assembly Room,
Wilson Library*

Featuring internationally acclaimed, five-time Coty award-winning fashion and furniture designer Alexander Julian '69. Alex will commentate and illustrate with archival photos the rich visual history of Chapel Hill's incredible legacy that transcends from Franklin Street to the playing fields.
